REUSEARTS

Finding creative ways to reduce landfill

A creative and innovative STEAM-focused camp that focuses on found objects as the primary materials for art-making. We will be using unconventional materials (TRASH!) to make sculpture, fashion, and whatever else comes up in the design process! All experience levels are welcome, as the most important thing is being open to trying new things and having a positive attitude. All materials included. Enrollment is limited, so sign up today at GOODENT.ORG!

Notes: Please bring a lunch, water bottle, and snack each day.

Both camps will be taught by local educator and Goodent officer Erin Renee. Erin has a degree in fine art and her CA Teaching Credential. She is a passionate artist, educator, and community builder.
